- Geoff Moore and
The Distance

Oh, I have slipped the surly bonds of earth,
and danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;

Sunward I've climbed, and joined the tumbling mirth
Of sun-split clouds and done a hundred things
You have not dreamed of...wheeled and soared and swung

High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring there,
I've chased the shouting wind along, and flung
My eager craft through footless halls of air.

Up, up the long, delirious, burning blue
I've topped the windswept heights with easy grace
Where never lark, nor even eagle flew.

And, while with silent, lifting mind I've trod
the high untrespassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand, and touched the face of God.

To Robin, Grandma, Grandpa, Mom, Carrina, Jamie and Skylar: I wish I'd realized sooner how lucky I am to have all of you. I could not have asked for a more loving and supportive family. I will never be able to show how grateful I am. To my sisters: I would be so lonely without you. You are my best friends. Mom: Never doubt that you have been a wonderful parent. I know your love is unconditional. Robin: I hate to admit it but I will have trouble living without you. You have never failed to be there when I needed you. Thank-you. "Still I Rise"

You may write me down in history
With your bitter, twisted lies,
You may trod me in the very dirt
But still, like dust, I'll rise

Does my sassiness upset you?
Why are you beset with gloom?
'Cause I walk like I've got oil wells
Pumping in my living room.

Just like moons and like suns,
With the certainty of tides,
Just like hopes springing high,
Still I'll rise.

Did you want to see me broken?
Bowed head and lowered eyes?
Shoulders falling down like teardrops,
Weakened by my soulful cries.

Does my haughtiness offend you?
Don't you take it awful hard
'Cause I laugh like I've got gold mines
Diggin' in my own backyard.

You may shoot me with your words,
You may cut me with your eyes,
You may kill me with your hatefulness,
But still, like air, I'll rise.

Does my sexiness upset you?
Does it come as a surprise
That I dance like I've got diamonds
At the meeting of my thighs?

Out of the huts of history's shame
I rise
Up from a past that's rooted in pain
I rise
I'm a black ocean, leaping and wide,
Welling and swelling I bear in the tide.

Leaving behind nights of terror and fear
I rise
Into a daybreak that's wondrously clear
I rise
Bringing the gifts that my ancestors gave,
I am the dream and the hope of the slave.
I rise
I rise
I rise.

"To infinity and beyond!"

"Blessed are the poor in spirit: for their's is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for their's is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you."

Men themselves have wondered
What they see in me.
They try so much
But they can't touch
My inner mystery.
When I try to show them
They say they still can't see.
I say,
It's the arch of my back,
The sun of my smile,
The ride of my breasts,
The grace of my style.
I'm a woman
Phenomenally.
Phenomenal woman,
That's me.
Now you understand
Just why my head's not

I don't shout or jump about
Or have to talk real loud...
'Cause I'm a woman
Phenomenally.

The blizzard of '96 follows the hottest year in recorded global history. The blizzard crippled northern US cities where airports, roads, and even the postal service ceased to function. Alaska, in contrast, had very little snow during the winter season. After July's heat wave killed hundreds in the US, eleven hurricanes swept across the western hemisphere, the most since 1933. Some weather experts have linked such extreme conditions to possible global warming.

Speaker of the House of Representatives Newt Gingrich faces President Clinton in a budget showdown of policy and politics. Disagreement between the president and Congress over how to balance the federal budget ultimately led to a partial closing of federal government offices in November and December, 1995. Congress discussed reducing the rate of increase in spending for Medicare, Medicaid, and Social Security as a means to reduce the deficit, but failed to reach a compromise with President Clinton.

took a $69 million loss in 1995 and underwent a company reorganization that cost an estimated $125 million. 3 Colin Powell, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff during the Persian Gulf war, announces that he will not run for president. ♦ New federally-funded crime deterring organizations such as Community Oriented Policing Squad (COPS), that mixed community patrol and social work, were credited with reducing murders in neighborhoods of New Orleans by 74 percent in 1995. Similar policing in New York City led to a 17.5 percent reduction in major crime.

♦ President Clinton signed a telecommunications bill in February that deregulated the telecommunications industry, allowing long distance, cable, and phone companies to compete in each other's markets. The bill allowed regulation of content on the Internet and required TV makers to install a "V-chip" that enabled parents to block out certain TV programs. ♦ Large US corporations continued to downsize, laying off thousands of employees. AT&T announced plans to lay off 40,000 employees in January of 1996 alone.

♦ Health maintenance organizations (HMOs) came under close scrutiny by the media and legal professionals due to business practices that paid doctors bonuses to minimize patient treatment.

4 Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole is confirmed as frontrunner for the 1996 Republican presidential nomination after strong showings in most of the early primaries. Pat Buchanan and Steve Forbes were his closest challengers.

Bosnia

On May 25, 1995 NATO warplanes struck Bosnian Serb headquarters. The Serbs responded by storming UN weapons depots and safe areas, taking peacekeepers hostage. Such reports, along with photos of the Bosnian countryside that revealed scenes reminiscent of the bloody massacres of World War II, emboldened NATO to strive more diligently for the cause of peace. For remaining Bosnians who had survived the 42-month-long war, NATO launched its largest combat mission ever and prompted the first stable cease-fire in the region since the break-up of what was once Yugoslavia. On December 13, President Clinton deployed 20,000 US troops on a peacekeeping mission to Bosnia. The next day, leaders of Bosnia, Serbia, and Croatia met in Paris, France to sign a US-sponsored peace treaty keeping all warring parties temporarily at bay. US troops complete the 60,000-strong Atlantic Alliance to help enforce and supervise the peace plan.

Toy Story, the first completely computer-animated Disney movie, features Tom Hanks and Tim Allen as the voices of the movie's tiny heroes. Determined not to end up as throwaways in the family garage sale, Woody, a toy cowboy, and Buzz Lightyear, a grinning, plastic space traveler, vie for the attention of the boy whose room is their universe. A "Toy Story" video game was released by Disney Interactive in November, following the success of the movie.

◆ Jim Carrey collected $20 million for Ace Ventura: When Nature Calls, the largest sum paid to an actor for one movie.

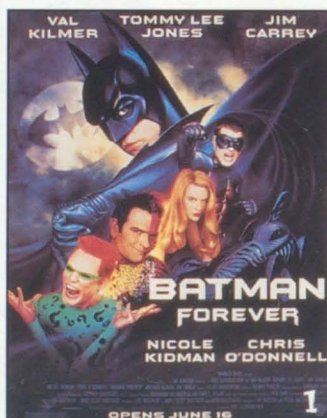

◆ Disney Interactive released a CD-ROM activity program, based on the movie The Lion King, titled "The Lion King Activity Center" for Mac and Windows.

1 Batman Forever becomes the year's biggest box office draw.

2 Disney's Pocahontas, based on the tale of a Native-American princess who befriends English settlers in the early 1600s, grosses over $140 million at the box office.

3 "Friends" becomes one of America's top-rated TV shows in 1995.
